Snyder Makes Call For Prompt Action On Tax Increase

Says Second Round Boost After The Ten Billions Not Be Needed Now

WASHINGTON, April 2—(P)—Secretary of the Treasury Snyder today called for prompt action on the administration's $10,000,000,000 "first round" tax increase proposal, but said a "second round-boost can be postponed until next year in view of a vastly improved budget situation.

Revealing new official budget estimates, Snyder told the house ways and means committee that: 1. This fiscal year, which ends next June 30, should produce a surplus of about $3,000,000,000 in contrast with the $2,700,000,000 deficit President Truman forecast in January.

2. Tax revenues next year, which starts July 1, should be about $3,000,000,000 above the January forecast, indicating that the previous deficit prediction of $16,500,000,000 will not be more than $13,500,000,000.

Course of Prudence

It was this extraordinary improvement which prompted the treasury secretary to abandon the administration's earlier demand for a second round $6,500,000,000 tax hike in 1951.

Snyder declared: "The prudent course now is the prompt enactment of the tax increases already recommended by the president. . . . My considered judgement can be stated briefly: Defense expenditures will increase so rapidly in the period ahead that the treasury's present budgetary surplus will disappear quickly.

"While the exact course of defense spending cannot now be blueprinted, it is all too clear already that within the coming fiscal year we shall need at least the $10,000,000,000 minimum program recommended by the president.

"No one can know what lies ahead, and it would be most imprudent to delay the legislation required now for our financial preparedness."

Snyder added that "the increases in corporation and individual income taxes and the excise taxes (all proposed by Snyder Feb. 5) represent the basic changes in the tax structure that are now desirable.

These called for a $3,600,000,000 increase in individual income taxes, a $3,035,000,000 hike in corporate income taxes and a $3,080,000,000 boost in excise (sales) levies.

With those, Snyder had coupled a requested $440,000,000 increase in taxes on capital gains, meaning profit derived from sale of property. The four raises together made up the $10,155,000,000 tax increase sought in what was first called a "first round" tax measure.

The individual income tax increase recommended was four percentage points equivalent to a boost of $4 on each $100 of taxable income—the amount left after taking off deductions and exemptions.

The corporate tax boost requested was eight percentage points, or $8 for each $100 in taxable income. It would lift the top corporate income tax rate to 55 per cent from the present 47.

Among the excise boosts Snyder recommended in February were a jump to 20 per cent, from 7 on automobiles, at the manufacturer's price level; and a jump to 25 per cent, from 10, on television sets.

His major household appliances; also boosts on liquor, tobacco and gasoline taxes.

Need Not Eliminated
Snyder stressed today that the now-expected $3,000,000,000 surplus of income over outlays this fiscal year—second biggest surplus in history—and third surplus in the last 21 years—does not eliminate need for a tax boost now.

"I cannot emphasize too strongly that the current budget surplus is temporary and that we must guard against the unwarranted conclusion that it will be maintained in the future," he said.

His abandonment of an immediate second-round tax increase was announced in these words: "On the basis of an evaluation of all the information now at hand, it is my view that barring a major change in the defense program action on the second part of the revenue program can now be postponed until next January when we will have a firmer basis for determining defense costs."

When Snyder first made his plea for a first-round boost he said he would be back soon with his plans for more money.

Pictures Were Barred
Snyder appeared today before the committee wearing a white patch over his right eye. He recently underwent an eye operation. The committee barred any pictures of him at the hearing.

Snyder credited the improvement of roughly $5,700,000,000 in the current year budget outlook since January to two factors: 1. Probably that tax revenues will be about $2,700,000,000 higher than President Truman's

Farewell Call By Auriol

WASHINGTON, April 2—(P)—Pres. Vincent Auriol of France, in a farewell call on President Truman, said today his reception in the United States will reinforce French-American friendship "on which must be based collective security and world peace."

Leaving the White House after a 15-minute visit, Auriol told reporters: "I came to pay my official farewell to President Truman and to tell him how profoundly I have been moved by the reception given by the President, the government and the people of the United States during my visit here. And I told him I have a profound conviction that these manifestations of friendship will reinforce still more the friendship on which must be based collective security and world peace."

Presidential secretary Joseph Short later quoted Mr. Truman as saying the farewell call was "very pleasant and very cordial."

Auriol In Peace Program

Offers One of Five Points in Address Before Joint Meet Of U. S. Congress

WASHINGTON, April 2—(P)—President Vincent Auriol of France told Congress today that if his country falls before forces of aggression "the whole world, indeed civilization itself will be in mortal danger."

Addressing a special Senate-House session, he said to prevent such a disaster the west must base its defense strategy on "shielding" western Europe against attack.

The alternative, he said, is to "liberate a Europe which may once more be occupied, enslaved, exploited and ravaged and whose name, you may be sure, would only recall the final ruin of a civilization."

Auriol's speech climaxed a formal six-day state visit here as guest of President Truman. He planned to leave by train for New York soon after 1 p. m. (CST) for three more days of speeches, dinners and receptions.

The bespectacled chief of state vigorously defended the French fighting record. France, he said, has lost 1,932,000 men as a result of the past two world wars and is now fighting Communism in Korea and Indochina.

Defense For Peace

"What nation has ever proven better her love for independence and for peace and her will to defend both?" he asked.

Without mentioning Russia by name, he said the west has started to mobilize its joint defenses "in the face of threats of totalitarian expansion and the formation of certain mighty groups of powers whose policies are not subject to the free control of the people."

"It is certainly not the fault of our two nations if world collective security has not been organized," he added, "although we consider this failure as merely temporary."

Auriol laid down this five point "peace" program for Russia to accept if it wants to end the East-West tension:

1. Reciprocity for commitments subscribed to under the United Nations charter.

2. An end to Russian "interfering" in the internal affairs of other countries and a stop to the flow of "daily insults" leveled against these governments.

3. Permanent international control of all armaments by the United Nations "in order to limit fairly and later to destroy all classic or atomic weapons."

4. Progressive reduction in all national armies and replacement by a United Nations army.

5. An agreement providing for the "free movement of wealth, of all persons," and a guarantee of freedom of expression in those countries where regimes "have been imposed by force."

I further want to state, that I have never had, nor do I now have any political aspirations.

Three Perished In Fire Sunday

Damage Runs High as $2,000,000 In Three Blazes

By the Associated Press

Three persons died and damage ran as high as $2,000,000 in three different fires over the nation Sunday. One blaze, in a fashionable apartment house in Kansas City, was attributed to arsonists.

The three deaths occurred in a fire which destroyed the 3-story Commercial hotel at Dacorah, Iowa. Two persons were injured as fire and explosions destroyed a St. Paul, Minn., shopping center. Damage was estimated as high as $1,500,000 to $2,000,000.

Victims of the hotel fire were identified as Theodore Barlow, 70; Gene Smith, 80; and Jim McGovern, 70.

Charles Barth, 74, was hospitalized with minor burns. Two women guests jumped to safety from second story windows.

Nine of the seventeen business places in the block-sized St. Paul shopping center, were heaps of rubble after the blaze.

Firemen said flames apparently broke out in a supermarket and spread throughout most of the "L"-shaped center.

Shortly after the blaze had engulfed a drug store, an explosion ripped it apart.

Cause of the fire had not been immediately determined.

Charles J. Saunders, Kansas City's chief fire prevention inspector, said fires were started deliberately in two adjoining 9-story apartment buildings there yesterday.

Damage in one building was estimated at $2,000, and at $25 in the other.

Saunders said both fires were started in service closets. Nearly 150 persons fled the blazes. One man suffered burns on the right arm.

Scout Executive To Be Transferred

Reinhold G. Miller, Boy Scout executive of the Lake of the Ozark council, with headquarters in Jefferson City, has been notified of his transfer to the regional office at Kansas City. The announcement was made today by Rex Whitton, president of the Lake of the Ozark council.

The transfer is effective May 1. Mrs. Miller and the two sons, Ronald and Douglas, will continue to live here until the present term of school is concluded.

Whitton said he had received notice of the transfer from O. A. Kitterman, executive of region No. 8, which includes Colorado, Iowa, Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska and Wyoming. Miller will be a deputy executive in the regional office, which has jurisdiction over the Lake of the Ozark council.

Since Miller came to Ozark council, Whitton said that the number of scout units in the council have increased from 61 to 93 and scout memberships have jumped from 1,260 to 1,900. The Lake of the Ozark council consists of eleven councils, including Saline, Pettis, Moniteau, Morgan, Miller, Cole, Maries, Osage Gasconade, Benton and Camden.

Miller's duties as a scout leader have included camp director, Cub director, Sea Scout director, director of training courses, camporees, merit badges shows and regattas. He was awarded the scoutmaster's key in 1938.

April Term of Court Opens

Continuance in Murder Case is Asked of Court

The April term of criminal division of the Pettis county circuit court was opened this morning with Judge Dimmitt Hoffman on the bench. The cases of 11 defendants were called and dates for trial were set in several, change of venues asked in two and a continuance in one.

The case of Mrs. Genevieve Decker Henderson, charged with first degree murder in connection with the death of her husband Theodore Decker on November 6, 1947 and a continuance was asked. The reason for the continuance asked by her attorney Fred F. Wesner was because of her illness.

The court gave the defense until April 4 to produce a physician's certificate showing the illness of Mrs. Decker. She underwent an operation recently at the Bothwell hospital and since that time her condition has been considered very serious.

The cases of four defendants charged with keeping gaming devices were set for April 9. They are Robert Ream of the B&H Cigar store; Charles Thompson, Jr., of the Pia Mori; Charles Burns and F. Joseph McEniry of the Smoke House.

Gus Cruise, Jr., charged with grand larceny was set for April 24.

Robert Blue and Alvin Johnson, charged with grand larceny, had their cases set for April 11.

In the cases of Donald Moore and William Lemens, grand larceny a severance of the defendants was asked and granted. Moore filed an application for a change of venue and the case of Lemens was set for April 20.

John L. Bohon, forgery, was granted a change of venue and the case was sent to Morgan county. He was released on a $2,000 bond.

Gets $65,716 In Year 1947

Gregory Moore Tells of That Sum From a Club

WASHINGTON, April 2—(P)—Gregory Moore of St. Louis told the Kefauver committee that a $2,500 investment in the Hyde Park Club, Venice, Ill., brought him $65,716 in one year alone. That was in 1947 when he got 10 per cent of the club's $657,160 net profit.

The transcript of Moore's testimony, at a hearing conducted in St. Louis last July by the Senate Crime investigating committee headed by Senator Kefauver (D-Tenn) was made public today.

In 1948, Moore said, his share of the club's profits was reduced to five per cent. He made $32,922 that year.

The same five per cent, paid Moore $17,869 in 1949, according to tax return information read into the record by Committee Counsel Rudolph Halley.

Questioned by Halley, Moore reluctantly described the Hyde Park club as a "gambling business."

He said he put "about $2,500" into the club in 1942, and became part owner of the building.

"Take What Can Get" Asked how it happened that his percentage of the club's profit was reduced from 10 per cent in 1947 to five per cent in 1948, Moore said:

"As people move in and out you take what you can get."

"They wanted to put other people in there and give other people a break," he explained.

Committee records disclosed that Frank Huston had no share in 1947 profits, but took five per cent in 1948.

Eisenhower Command in Operation

Organization in West Europe Defense Active

By Harvey Hudson

PARIS, April 2—(P)—General Dwight Eisenhower said today that any delay in congressional action on defense measures would "delay the whole preparation" of defense of western Europe.

The statement was made in response to a question at a news conference, the first one he has given since he took over command of the defense of Europe. Actually and technically he took command of the organization of western European defense at one minute after midnight today. Responding to the question about any possible delay in congressional action on pending defense legislation, Eisenhower said:

"Anything done which would indicate reluctance on the part of any country to get into this pool of cold water would delay the whole preparation of defense.

"My concern is that each nation should show its full readiness to cooperate."

Eisenhower said taking over command was simply a formality in keeping with old military tradition that a new commander should issue an order number one announcing that he had taken command.

Nevertheless to most Europeans it had a special significance. At the moment he took over, all units which have been turned over to the NATO (North Atlantic Treaty Organization) defense were taken under his guiding wing. This includes not only their operations in defense, but their training and supply.

Eisenhower set out at once to explain a section of his testimony earlier in the year before a congressional committee by asserting that he had no intention of retiring to the "Brest peninsula" as a means of defending Europe. He said such a quotation had been torn out of context when it was released in Washington some weeks ago. It indicated he was ready to "back into the Breton peninsula on the west coast of France and there would be prepared to hold on until strength could be developed to beat off the Russians.

"I didn't come here to take up a position in the Brest peninsula," the general said.

Not Over Middle East
To a question about defense of the Middle East, he said this area was not his responsibility but added:

"The defense of any portion of the Mediterranean has an influence on all parts. Any time any part falls into inimical hands it becomes of great importance in the defense of others."

He paid high tribute to the defense of the Middle East.

Editorial

A Challenge To Citizenship—

There has been public criticism of the manner in which Sedalia's city affairs have been administered under the management of a Republican mayor and Democratic council the past year. Oddly enough much of this censure has come from citizens who did not even take the trouble to vote in the city election of 1950.

Those who did vote, in the majority, created the situation about which they now complain; perhaps consciously believing that lions and lambs could lie down together.

But is hasn't turned out that way. It is remarkable that any city business at all has been transacted between times of bickering between the Republican mayor and Democratic councilmen. Yet the results have not been entirely negative.

Where lies the blame? The Republican mayor disclaims it; so do the Democratic councilmen. Both sides conscientiously believe they have tried to do their best under what seems to have turned out to be an impossible situation. Both sides believe they were chosen by the voters to run the affairs of Sedalia; and they were.

So, really, the responsibility for the impasse now existing in city hall rests squarely on the shoulders of the people—those who voted and those who did NOT vote last April.

Of late we have heard much about governmental moral disintegration that inevitably follows creation of overpowered bureaucracy. This too comes from public somnolence; grass roots indifference, starting at the local level.

The election Tuesday offers Sedalians an opportunity to express a revived interest in their citizenship by turning out en masse to vote. A light vote in Sedalia Tuesday can indicate only what has been suspected nationally—apathetic citizenship.

This is a time when the voters can acknowledge their responsibility to themselves and their neighbors: declaring through the ballot box whether by choosing a Republican council they support the Republican mayor (who has three more years to serve); or by electing a Democratic council they endorse the present one and prefer that party's stewardship.

Another important phase of Tuesday's election is the selection of two school board members. For many years the voters have ignored the school board ballot because nomination of candidates by both political parties was equivalent to election on the theory of keeping the board bi-partisan—an equal representation of both parties.

But at the election Tuesday the voters are offered a challenge to their civic responsibility, not to toss the school board ballot on the floor but to vote for TWO of the THREE candidates, one a Republican, one a Democrat, and one an Independent. A heavy vote will indicate a firm decision, or a drowsy response.

Vote Down a Bar to Young Foot Soldiers

Senator Case In Opposition to Service in Europe

WASHINGTON, April 2—(P)—The Senate defeated 46 to 44 today an attempt by Senator McClellan (D-Ark) to require congressional approval if President Truman sends more than four additional divisions to the North Atlantic defense force.

WASHINGTON, April 2—(P)—The Senate voted down today a proposal to ban the sending of U. S. foot soldiers under age 20 to serve in Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's North Atlantic defense force.

The vote was 62 to 27. It was the first ballot taken in connection with the troops-for-Europe issue.

Senator Case (R-SD) proposed to bar use of foot soldiers under age 20.

Case offered that as an amendment to a resolution which would endorse the administration's plans to dispatch four more divisions—about 100,000 men—to join the two already in Europe and ticketed for Eisenhower's command.

The Senate met two hours earlier than usual in an effort to come to a final decision on the troops-for-Europe issue after several weeks of debate.

Two separate resolutions were before it. Both would endorse the administration's program. One would express only Senate sentiment. The other, if adopted by the Senate, would be sent on to the House.

Communists Are Massing Troops on Central Front For Possible Attacks

By Don Huth
TOKYO, April 2—(P)—Allied tank-infantry patrols stabbed across the 38th parallel into Red Korea "several" times yesterday and today.

Presumably all pulled back to main lines after short periods north of the pre-war boundary between north and south Korea.

AP Correspondent John Randolph reported from the western front that the border crossings "had no special significance." They were part of the routine patrolling constantly being carried out along the front.

Main allied interest was focused north of 38 on the central front. There the Communists are massing troops and equipment for a probable spring offensive.

Randolph said the Communist defenses north of 38 were a network of trenches, log pillboxes, rifle pits and dugouts.

Assault Delayed
New Chinese tactics have delayed allied infantry assaults on Red hill positions. In the past the Reds usually waited on their hill-top crests for the Allies to hit them. They suffered heavily from artillery and air attacks.

Now they wait on the reverse side of the slopes and man their trenches only at the last moment. By then the Allied infantry is too near the lines to receive close artillery support.

Some Price Officials Sabotage The Public

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1951, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, April 2.—One trouble with holding down prices is that some officials inside the office of price stabilization seem more interested in upping prices than in preventing inflation.

Here's an example of the public-be-hanged behavior of certain officials which occurred at a recent closed-door meeting between price official Charles W. Carvin and representatives of the woolen industry.

This meeting, like most of the important price-control meetings held in Washington, had no spokesman for the consumer. The group consisted entirely of wool manufacturers—with the exception of Charles Carvin, the government's man. Carvin, however, is not exactly a friend of the consumer, having spent most of his life in the textile industry and currently is on leave from his own large New York textile firm, Charles W. Carvin Co.

During their meeting Carvin and the wool manufacturers discussed the question of how much of a price increase the manufacturers should get, and Carvin astonished the group with this advice:

"Go see Mike Di Salle (OPS administrator). Make him give you a decent increase. With all those demands coming in from the army for woolen uniforms, he can't turn you down on that price increase. You've got Mike over a barrel."

Carvin is supposed to protect the consumer, prevent inflation. That is the job for which OPS was created. However, as the meeting ended Carvin further advised the woolen manufacturers to talk to Robert O. Huffman, his immediate superior.

"Huffman's a straight thinker on prices," advised Carvin. "Huffman's no administration man, no New Dealer."

War Pessimism

Secretary of Defense Marshall hinted in a public statement last week that he was a little more worried than previously about the Soviet's warlike intentions.

Inside reason for this worry is an intelligence estimate indicating that Russia "probably" will not go to war this year because it lacks the resources and its fear of the atomic bomb. However, the analysis also warns there is a small group within the politburo talking of a "preventive war."

Reasoning of this clique is: If Russia waits more than two years, the western allies will be so strong that a war for Russia would be suicide. It points out the growing strength of the west, the revolts spreading across eastern Europe and unrest in Russia itself. Therefore it is argued by extremist leaders in the Kremlin that war is the best way to maintain Soviet domination over eastern Europe and China.

It is believed, however, that this view is not held by Stalin, nor by Molotov, his likely successor. They are understood to believe that capitalism will fall of its own weight, aided by inflation and corruption.

Wise Mr. Wilson

The television audience missed a treat, but defense mobilizer Charles E. Wilson was wise when he banned TV cameras at last week's press conference.

Asked by a newsmen in the course of the conference whether he had sold his stock in General Electric, the company which he once headed, Wilson shook his finger at the reporter.

"If I had known these controversial questions would be asked . . . he exploded, implying that so he would not have agreed to the press conference—only his second during four months in Washington.

Nothing the mobilizer's angry brick-red face, a television man sighed: "Brother what a shot that would make on color TV."

NOTE—Wilson gave real impetus to defense production, though in the course of doing so, small, independent business has taken a worse beating than in War II.

Washington Pipeline

A lot of good men are getting into government you never hear about—at salary sacrifices. One of the latest: Thurman L. Bernard, who took an 85 per cent cut from advertising Ivory soap to help with state department propaganda. . . . It was New Hampshire's Sen. Styles Bridges who went to bat for Democratic Senator Kefauver's crime committee in the secrecy of the GOP policy committee. . . . Col. Grady Gore, who made money in plumbing fixtures and now owns Washington's swank Fairfax hotel, plans to be the next GOP senator from Maryland. Jon Jonkel of the Chicago Tribune, the man who fixed up the smear tabloid against Senator Tydings, may do a repeat as campaign manager.

Labor leaders, fed up with John Steelman, are insisting on their own man in the White House. They claim they have nobody near the President to represent them. . . . Truman was so flabbergasted you could have knocked him over with a feather when the labor leaders turned against him. He had no idea his labor relations were so bad.

Little Business Headaches

The little businessman's headaches under defense controls have only begun. The next 18 months will be even tougher on him, according to secret testimony before the House small business committee.

Military requirements for aluminum, for instance, will increase at such a rate in 1951 and 1952 that many small firms producing non-defense aluminum products may have to shut down, the committee was informed by Manly Fleischmann, chief of the national production authority.

"The only solution is getting these little fellows a larger share of defense orders," declared Fleischmann. "We hope to work that out."

Fortright Congressman Clinton McKinnon of California remarked that he would be more inclined to believe the NPA really wanted to help small business if the agency had shown more inclination in the past.

"Your order cutting back the non-defense uses of aluminum by 35 per cent was unfair to the little fellow, because he couldn't afford to take the same horizontal cut as a bigger manufacturer," said McKinnon. "It would have been fairer if you had used a sliding-scale cutback to protect small firms, as we did when rationing newsprint during the last war."

"There's an argument for both sides," replied Fleischmann. "We thought our way was the best and quickest method of getting aluminum for the defense stockpile."

Military procurement spokesmen and a witness from the general services agency, however, reassured the committee that little business would come in for some gray after the current emergency—if it can hold out that long. After the last war, the committee was told, between 75 and 80 per cent of surplus war assets were merchandised by small firms.

"Well, I've heard about everything now," exploded Congressman Joe Ewins of Tennessee. "In other words, you propose to starve little business now and then try to revive it following the emergency—after it's already dead."

'Career Woman' Turned Thirty Had Better Think Things Over

This is for the working woman who at age 30 or over hasn't found a husband. It's good, sensible advice and it comes from a career woman who knows what she is talking about. She asks: "Wish you would write a column for the career woman, or rather the woman who works from graduation to grave. She is going to become ever more commonplace and she isn't a rarity even now.

"Tell her not to let her job become her only interest in life. Job and sleep are not enough. If there's no husband by 30, then the working woman must (if she is to remain well-rounded instead of becoming neurotic) begin right then to put something into her life besides the job and a bit

KILLER'S PACE BY JULIUS LONG

COPYRIGHT 1951 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Star Williams fails to show up in criminal court to make his final argument in behalf of the defendant in the Bidault case, and while the court waits, I find him at the Strand Hotel in company with the famous lady magician Sonya Sareeta who holds a small automatic pistol in her hand. My name is John Marshall and I work for Williams.

Rose's silly defense . . . wouldn't fool a 10-year-old, not to mention a jury of 12 adult men and women.

EVEN with specially built-up shoes Star Williams barely made it over five-one. His head loomed disproportionately large on his small body. The exaggeration was increased by his wealth of brown hair, graying at the temples. His enemies had accused him of dyeing his hair gray to lend him his exceptionally distinguished appearance. Other enemies accused him of dyeing the rest of his hair brown, discrediting him with such age as to place him under the shadow of senility.

The truth was that nobody, excepting Star Williams himself, knew his age. He had been big time so long that most people regarded him as much older than he could have been. Yet the texture of his skin was almost boyish; there were many ridiculous conjectures to the other extreme. The date of his admittance to the bar was known, but a story that he had practiced many years in another state left room for more guesses as to his true age and experience.

"What's up, Jim?" Star asked in all innocence. "I'm sure that only something special would make you barge in on a lady like this. What's your trouble?"

"I've nearly gone crazy trying to find you!" I screamed out. "Right this minute Judge Wanmaker is probably giving the Bidault case to the jury! Your shilly-shallying has cost you the Bidault case and ruined you!"

Madam Sonya Sareeta stiffened and eyed me with an unfriendly frown. She looked as if she might be considering picking up the little automatic pistol again. It was a popular 25 caliber model the type women admire so much. I wondered if Sonya Sareeta always packed a rod and why she happened to have this one in her hand when I had walked in. Maybe the clerk downstairs had warned her that she was about to be visited by a madman.

Star spoke sharply. "I assure you that I have not been shilly-shallying. I might add that I have not even been dilly-dallying. The time I have spent with Madam Sareeta has been most profitable. I suggest that you yourself catch her act at La Jolla Club."

"La Jolla Club!" It was too much, Star picking up with a night club magician. "For crying out loud, Star, call Wanmaker and tell him you're coming right over! If you don't you're ruined!"

Star smiled thinly and deprecatingly. "Jim, when you've been around criminal courts as long as I have, you'll know that no judge will ever let a jury have a case without the defense argument unless he's waited a darn sight longer than Wanmaker has."

"But his deadline was 9:30! It's past that now!"

Star shrugged. "He's an old wind-bag. He knows I'd make a monkey out of him if he didn't wait till I got there."

I groaned. "And it cost me a hundred bucks of my own money to find you!"

Star eyed me interestedly. "And to whom were you so foolish as to pay such a sum to ascertain my whereabouts?"

"Pete, the louse! How'd he find out you were here?"

Star chuckled in appreciation of Pete's knavery. "Why that mercenary barkeep! I sent over for a bottle a while ago!"

"And you couldn't even tell Kitty or me where you were hiding out!"

Star eyed me with lifted brows. "Hiding? Hiding out? I assure you that I hide from no man! Least of all, Andy Tanner, the dashing D.A. of River County!"

"You might have had the decency to tell me what you were up to! You owe me for the hundred I unnecessarily spent!"

"Unnecessarily is right, Jim. That's why I can't refund it to you. I'm not responsible for your irresponsible expenditures!"

I fumed. "You'll pay me that century or get yourself a new slave! Well, are you going to stand here and yack-yack all day while Wanmaker runs up his blood-pressure?"

Star yawned and turned to Madam Sareeta. "Well, thanks Sonya, for a lovely and instructive evening. I look forward to renewing our acquaintance."

Madam Sonya Sareeta acknowledged this with a thin smile.

"The pleasure was all mine, Star. Any time."

WE left. I kept telling myself: "If he hasn't the sense to care, why should I go into a fit?" But it was no use. I'd been with Star too long to go crazy from the suspense.

But Pete had been right. This Bidault case was a sure loser, whether Star showed up in court. All the evidence was in. Andy Tanner had given his opening argument. There was only the defense argument and rebuttal to reach the jury. Nothing Star could say or do could influence that jury—that I was sure. Rose Bidault would go to the electric chair.

The jury would never recommend mercy for a girl who had cold-bloodedly shot and killed her husband, even though the husband had been crowding 60 and been possessed of a couple of million dollars accumulated from many sordid business deals. The old boy hadn't deserved such a fate, especially from a scheming trait like Rose Bidault. The evidence had been simply overwhelming—Rose's silly defense that Barnett (Barney) Bidault had been accidentally shot when she had dropped her pearl-handled automatic pistol wouldn't fool a 10-year-old, not to mention a jury of 12 adult men and women.

ANDY TANNER had done a good job with his half-dozen expert witnesses. They were nationally known ballistics experts, and even Star Williams had been unable to get around their unanimous testimony that the particular model of automatic pistol was incapable of firing an accidental shot when dropped to the floor. Even if you tossed such a gun off the Empire State Building, they had testified, its patented safety device would prevent it from going off.

Tanner, beefy-jowled and well-punched, had sat back in his chair with a sly smile all through the defense, and in his opening argument to the jury he had dwelt upon his unassailable expert witnesses and Star's complete failure to answer the challenge of their testimony.

It did look bad. The sad part of the whole thing was that Rose Bidault had given her silly story of accidental shooting to the police before conferring with Star Williams, who knew as well as the experts that her precious little automatic pistol was incapable of being accidentally fired when dropped.

They are the ones who always stay overtime, who discuss the job endlessly and who, at 40, are bitter about life, uncertain of themselves and generally neurotic.

Communist vehicles jammed the roads of northwest Korea. Allied air observers spotted 2,300 Sunday night. It was the largest after-dark movement observed during the war, and raised speculation that an expected Red counter-offensive may be launched soon.

The U. S. fifth air force said 70 vehicles were destroyed or damaged early Monday. B-26 night intruders attacked 1,000 vehicles Sunday night and reported 75 destroyed or damaged.

Light Ground Action

Ground action was light, American, Greek, Thailand (Siamese) and South Korean troops stabbed ahead against only isolated pockets of resistance. There were minor clashes north of Chunchon and northeast of Hangey on the central front. American units advanced east of Chunchon without firing a shot.

On the western front the Communists planted mines to protect their flank while they continued their buildup in the center.

AP Correspondent John Randolph reported the Reds laid a mine field along the Sinchon river six miles below 38 on the western front. The mines were along the route followed by an American tank column which crossed the parallel Saturday morning.

Red mines were also laced along the roads and trails leading to ridgeline positions near 38 in the central sector.

Expect Million Vote in Chicago

CHICAGO, April 2—(AP)—More than 1,000,000 Chicagoans are expected to go to the polls tomorrow and vote for a mayor. Their choice, some observers say, may have a bearing on next year's presidential contest.

Candidates are Mayor Martin H. Kennelly, Democratic incumbent, and Robert L. Hunter, Republican who hopes to end the Democrat's 20-year rule of city hall.

The Republicans claim the mayoral election has national significance. They reason that control of city hall would give them a good chance to swing Illinois' 27 electoral votes to the Republican Presidential candidate in 1952.

The Democrats won Chicago mayoral elections in 1931, 1935, 1939, 1943 and 1947. Perhaps it's only coincidence, but each mayoral victory was followed by victory in presidential elections.

One City-Wide Partisan Race

ST. LOUIS, April 2—(P)—The power of the word "Shenkerism" will get another test tomorrow when St. Louis voters decide the election for president of the board of aldermen—only city-wide partisan race on the ballot.

In half of the 28 wards—the even numbered ones—voters also will select aldermen.

The Republican candidate, incumbent Charles E. Albanese, is waging his campaign on the issue of how much power criminal lawyer Morris Shenker wields in the Democratic party.

Albanese's opponent, Mark M. Hennelly, a newcomer to politics, formerly was a lawyer in Shenker's office.

Hennelly charges Albanese with waging a "smear campaign" instead of offering a progressive program for the city.

But the Republicans want a special congressional election here last month in a normally Democratic district using the same campaign.

2. Expenditures will be about $3,000,000,000 less than the January forecast of $4,200,000,000.

He shied off a specific revision of the $16,500,000,000 deficit predicted in January for next fiscal year, commenting:

"The extent to which recent revenue developments will carry over to raise fiscal 1952 revenues is not yet clear. In the absence of unexpected developments, fiscal 1952 revenues are at present estimated to be about $3,000,000,000 higher than (the record size $55,100,000,000) anticipated in the (January budget).

"While the slower unfolding of the defense program may somewhat the rate of increase in expenditures (forecast in January for an overall total of $71,600,000,000), the total cost of the program is not thereby decreased and as a result of higher prices may actually be increased."

Snyder observed that an "adequate tax policy" is necessary to help restrain inflation as well as to put the government on a firm financial base.

Eisenhower Command in Operation

defensive capacity of Greece and Turkey, about which the question was specifically raised.

He said there was no indication at present that there would not be enough equipment to arm all the troops made available under his command.

"The production plans of NATO," he said, "are calculated to see that troops raised in any nation, in any quarter, have the equipment necessary. If there are any haldups in the plan, I don't know of them."

He conceded that naming the command of the southern section of the European defense scheme was at the moment "embarrassing." He said it was necessary to reconcile many national points of view in the choosing of commanders and staff members. In the case of the southern command, he indicated, these conflicts have not yet been settled.

There was no immediate explanation of what was involved, but there have been reports that an Italian commander might be named, a selection which would disturb other sectors of the vast front which Eisenhower has to defend.

General Eisenhower called the Supreme Headquarters Allied Powers Europe (SHAPE) a mechanism to "preserve peace."

He said British, American, French and troops of other nations already placed at his disposal have now come under his operational control.

He emphasized again and again that peace was the aim of the entire organization.

"If I were part of any nation desiring to extend its influence, I would not be here," he said.

Newsreel at Fox
On Crime Probe

The Kefauver crime investigation, a sensational expose which has held the attention of the nation's citizens for weeks, is on the screen in a full-length feature length film compiled and edited by 20th Century-Fox Motion Pictures and is being shown in the nation's theaters through their regular newsreel channels.

highlights from the illuminating quiz, will be shown three days at the Fox theater starting Thursday in conjunction with the regular program for those days, and is presented by the theater in the public interest.

The "all-star cast" in the most dramatic battle of wits ever recorded includes Costello, O'Dwyer, Anastasia, Gusick, Virginia Hill, Erickson, Senators Kefauver, Tobey and all the rest.

The terrific impact which the investigation has made upon the country through the mediums of newspapers, television and radio has prompted this special release, compiled from the more than 100,000 feet of film which was the entire official photographic record of the hearings and is presented for the first time as only the motion picture cameras recorded it.

Ringling Show
Back to Garden

NEW YORK, April 2—(P)—The circus is back in town, and with it a stubborn mule and 1,399 other animals.

The Missouri mule, Marybelle, grabbed the spotlight yesterday by staging a sit-down strike as the first contingent of the Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey show paraded into town.

Marybelle's behavior stalled the caravan heading down Second avenue to Madison Square Garden from the Harlem river railroad yards, where the animals were unloaded.

The grumpy brown, pint-sized mule sat until she was lifted up bodily and placed in a taxicab.

Arriving at the Garden in this regal manner, Marybelle was escorted, or rather dragged out, of the cab to meet the photographers.

Meanwhile, the caravan resumed its trek as hundreds of children lined the avenue. Popcorn and balloon vendors did a brisk business in the spring sunshine.

Ruth, a hulking hunk of elephant authority, led her pachyderm host down the street. Then came sleep, white stallions, lined three abreast.

Following in their wagon cages were chattering monkeys, bears and the other animals.

The Ringling show, arriving here from its winter quarters at Sarasota, Fla., opens its 1951 season Wednesday night.

Picketing is on
At Textile Mills

CHARLOTTE, N. C., April 2—(P)—Picketts swarmed outside mill gates today as a reported 40,000 CIO textile workers in five southern states pressed a strike for higher pay.

Management and union sources disagreed as to the effectiveness of the strike in cotton and rayon plants.

Owners at a number of plants halted operations without an effort to stay in production. Others opened the mills as usual and worked with curtailed crews.

Meanwhile, the vast majority of the south's booming textile industry spun busily forward. There are about 425,000 cotton-rayon workers in the south but only about 90,000 are members of the TWUA. Of the union members, about 50,000 are under contracts which have not expired. The TWUA reported nearly 40,000 on strike.

Negotiations between mill managements and the union broke off over the week-end with no agreement.

Pakistan Bank Socks Arabs
KARACHI —(P)—Mohammad Abu Saud, economic adviser to the Pakistan State Bank, will visit Saudi Arabia and Cairo to study possible improved exchange methods and recruit Arab bank employees.

Saud announced that he will seek ways to better facilities for the exchange of special currency notes issued to Haj pilgrims from Pakistan to Saudi Arabia.

Snakes Can Now
Wiggle Out

WAYNOKA, Okla., April 2—(P)—The rattlesnakes in this northwestern Oklahoma ranching section can crawl out of their holes today. The hunt's over.

They made themselves scarce yesterday in the 67,444-acre area designated by the Waynoka Saddle club for the annual safari. So only 205 were captured by the 5,000 persons attending from 15 states.

That's a far cry from the 1,200 bagged last year by a much smaller hunting party.

One big reason is that the weather—34-degree temperatures along with rain, snow and hail—made the snakes blood run cold. Whereas the hills usually are alive with the venomous reptiles, there was hardly one to be seen.

One cheering report: nobody joined the 55 members of the exclusive White Fang club. That is, nobody was bitten by a deadly rattler to become eligible for membership.

At any rate, there are 205 fewer rattlers in the area to kill off cattle. And hunters are righter by the experience and what money is paid for their catches, used for food, medicines and leather.

For those who came away empty handed, there's the 13th annual Okeene Rattler Roundup t prepare for April 15. That hunt is the biggest of them all.

Salt For Witnesses

ER ROSERIES, Anglo-Egyptian Sudan—(P)—You don't take the testimony of witnesses here with a grain of salt. The witnesses take the salt. This strange quirk developed at a court inquiry called in this Blue Nile province.

The Falubud tribesmen, who live near here, refused to take the regular oath, saying they had their own form. The witnesses ceremoniously placed some grains of salt on their tongues—followed by a red pepper, a piece of charcoal and a grain of wheat—carefully chewed, then spit the lot out the nearest window.

They offered no explanation but said it was now impossible for them to tell a lie.

ONE LAST WORD...

As the city aldermanic campaign draws to a close, I want to call the voters attention to the fact that I am not a candidate for office in this election, although the leaders of the Democratic Party have spent considerable time and money attempting to vilify me and my record as your mayor for the first year of my four year term, with the hope that they would be able to confuse the voters so that they would forget the type of representation they have had from their present Democratic Council during the past year.

The Republican Party offers four outstanding men for the four aldermanic posts open in the city government, and I personally hope that all Sedalia voters will think... and then vote for the candidate in their ward—

Dr. Floyd L. Lively
Candidate for MEMBER
SCHOOL BOARD

I have lived in Sedalia since I was 5 years of age and attended the Sedalia Public Schools. I am an Optometrist and I have practiced in Sedalia since 1937 except for the 3 1/2 years I was in the United States Navy, during World War II. I have worked with children considerably taking them as patients and in Boy Scout work.

I am seeking election to the School Board because the oldest of my three children is now in school and naturally, I am deeply interested in providing the best possible educational facilities for my children and for every child in Sedalia.

My purpose of being a candidate is to bring to the voters and tax payers of Sedalia equal voice in the operation of the Sedalia Public Schools and in the money spent in their own School Districts.

I sincerely ask for your support and vote in this coming election.

Pete Menefee, a lifelong resident of the First Ward, has in his years as a salesman become well acquainted with the problems of the First ward, and has worked hard to help solve them.

Menefee is working hard on a proposal to better the traffic and parking problems of Sedalia.

Sacred Heart Gremlins Close 1951 Season

Hodges High Scorer; Team Record Was 5 Victories, 16 Losses

William "Bill" Hodges was the high scorer for the Sacred Heart Gremlins basketball team, according to figures released on the past basketball season. Hodges a junior played his second season as center on the Gremlins and had an average of 12 points per game for the 21 conference and tournament games played by the Sacred Heart team.

Hodges, 6 foot, 4 inch boy, the tallest on the Gremlin team was used as offensive post man and defensive rebound alternating at guard and center started rather slowly but as the season got under way scored heavily throughout most of the season although during the latter part of the season the Gremlin opponents began to throw a strong defense around him.

One Senior on Team

The Gremlins, composed mostly of underclass men had only one senior on the team, Jim Menefee, captain, closed the season with five wins against 16 losses. But they had a team average of 40 points per game against 50 averaged by their opponents. Much of the defensive failure was due to the experience of the members of the squad but their scoring average for the season was a bright spot of an otherwise drab season as far as victories were concerned.

The B team played a schedule of 14 games, losing ten and winning four. The B team averaged 14 points per game while their opponents averaged 24.

Junior Team Won

The Junior team won the invitational tournament held in Lincoln and the grade school team won the grade school tournament held at the Sacred Heart gym. The grade school team coached by Rev. A. Migoni, came through the season with a record of 12 straight victories.

A program of grade school basketball was set up on Saturday mornings, with grade school boys participating and a tournament was held with the Cougars captained by Bob Bennett, the winners.

In the interclass basketball games the Juniors proved their ability by winning the interclass title, defeating the sophomores.

Rev. A. Migoni is the athletic director at the school and Palmer Nichols is basketball coach.

Brief Delay in Tourney Playoff

WILMINGTON, N. C., April 2—(P)—If it had to happen there was no more appropriate time than April Fool's Day.

The 18th green of the Cape Fear Country club was crowded with thousands of spectators waiting for the presentation of the $2,000 first prize in the Azalea open golf tournament to Lloyd Mangrum late yesterday afternoon.

They had seen the veteran Chicagoan score a closing par 72 for 281 to lead the field and were waiting for the presentation ceremony.

It never took place. Mangrum's last putt had hardly settled in the Yankees Tuesday. He was wearing a protective cap and suffered only shock. Manager Paul Richards has advised him to stay out of uniform for a while.

MIAMI, Fla., April 2—(P)—Shades of Leo Durocher:

The Brooklyn Dodgers gave plate umpire Len Warneke a good going over after he called Dan Bankhead out on a play at third base in the eighth inning of yesterday's 4-3 triumph over the Boston Braves.

Warneke was having none of it, though, with the result that Chris Van Cuyk, Ralph Branca and Jim Russell were exiled to the locker room for the rest of the game.

sub before word spread that there was a question of a possible infraction of the 14-club rule by the former national open champion.

He faced possible disqualification, which would have moved Turnesa, Ed Furgol, Royal Oak, Mich., and Jim Ferrier, San Francisco, into a tie for the lead and a playoff. They'd finished a stroke back of Mangrum with 72.

The rules committee, however, held that Mangrum violated no rule and he was given the $2,000 top money.

Mangrum had decided to change putters after the front nine when he took a two-over 38. He went into the locker room for a new putter to play the 10th. However, his attention was called to the fact that he couldn't change clubs unless the original club was no longer fit for play and he discarded the new putter for the one with which he started.

The committee reasoned that since he had not actually used the second putter he was not guilty of using 15 clubs.

Bull Exhibit at Mystery Farm Pictures in Central Missouri---

Fair Grounds

Over 150 Attended
Event Held There
On Last Tuesday

The bull exhibit held Tuesday at the State Fair grounds sponsored by the Farm Bureau Livestock Marketing Committee in cooperation with the County Extension office was seen by more than 150 persons in spite of the busy season.

Twenty-six bulls were exhibited and 3 heifers which were sired by some of the bulls were on exhibit.

Shorthorn bulls were exhibited by Tom Harvey, Hughesville; Joseph Jenkins, Houstonia; and Kappelman Bros., La Monte.

Angus bulls were exhibited by Quincy Cox, Fortuna; C. E. Snow, Sedalia; Dugan Bros., Montrose; Coover and Burch, Clinton; and E. W. Thompson, Sedalia.

Hereford bulls were exhibited by W. T. Summerskill, La Monte; C. S. Arnold, La Monte; Marvin Nicholson, La Monte; E. H. Gregory and Sons, Houstonia; Alva Creech, Warrensburg; Dick Monsees, Sedalia; Riley Doty, Nelson; and H. H. Ream, Green Ridge.

Pointed Out Characteristics
E. S. Matteson, Extension Specialist in Livestock, University of Missouri, examined each bull carefully and pointed out excellent, good, medium, fair, and poor characteristics.

Mr. Matteson pointed out that the kind of cows a producer has should have some influence in determining the kind of bull he should use. For example one exhibitor had a medium to small sized bull with a lot of quality. He is going to use this bull with a herd of cows that are big and rough. Mr. Matteson said this was the correct thing to do.

He discussed the importance of a good head as indicated by a broad muzzle, wide forehead, as shown by eyes being wide apart. Desirable characteristics are prominent eyes and short head. These characteristics coupled with a crested neck indicate masculinity and is indicative of transmitting his good characteristics to his offspring.

Deep body is an essential, he pointed out. Some bulls exhibited were too tall, others too short in the hind quarters compared to the middle. Some were excellent in this respect.

Good spring of ribs, full hearted girth, deep flanks and straight top lines were pointed out on some bulls and some weakness on some were noted.

Since the hind quarters are of extreme importance due to the high price meat being cut from this part of the carcass, Mr. Matteson paid particular attention to this. Some bulls dropped from the rump, some were too narrow in this region.

Many of those who attended stated the program was highly interesting and educational.

Those sponsoring the program are appreciative of the cooperation of the cattle owners who took time out in a busy season to exhibit these bulls.

Heavy Loss Due To Mastitis

Mastitis now causes more loss to dairymen than any other disease, says the County Extension Agent, Roy I. Coplen.

One common drug used to combat this is penicillin. A special warning is put out by Dr. A. H. Groth of the University of Missouri Veterinary School about its use. He warns dairymen using this drug to treat mastitis not to use the milk from treated quarters for several days. He says enough of the penicillin may enter the milk to interfere with the manufacturing processes. Also, he says, the penicillin may cause consumers who drink the milk to build up enough resistance to it to reduce its effectiveness when used as treatment for infection.

Dr. Groth says that three days is enough to wait before using the milk when the crystallin penicillin or penicillin ointment is used. If you use procaine penicillin in oil for udder infection it is better to wait at least eight days.

Is this your farm?

Most of the readers of the Democrat-Capital have been following this series of the weekly Mystery Farm pictures with considerable interest.

The pictures that appear in this space in Monday's Democrat and Tuesday morning's Capital were taken sometime ago by an aerial photographer. The pictures were not shot with the knowledge of whose farm it was. It was a random job; a picture here and a picture there.

The farm picture appearing in the Democrat of last Monday and in the Capital Tuesday morning was that of the 160-acre farm of Virgil Griffin, of 1421 South Prospect avenue, this city. It is known as the Quint farm and was purchased by Mr. Griffin in January of this year.

Mr. Griffin is the manager of the M. F. A., Central Co-operative in Sedalia. The house on the farm is of seven rooms and a large barn is also on the property. Corn is to be put in a portion of the land and the remainder will be in pasture.

Residing on the farm and operating it are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jenkins who have a daughter with them in the home.

Change to Make Chores Easier

Why not make the job a little easier—there is still time to make a change says County Agent, Roy I. Coplen.

Often times our way of doing the numerous daily chores become such a habit that we overlook the many opportunities in making things a little more convenient and easier for ourselves and family. Many Pettis county farm families have already made some of these changes in caring for the poultry flock by providing range shelters, barrel fountains, etc. This enables them to haul the feed and water out to the birds instead of carrying it by hand.

Price Supports in Dairy Program

Dairy price supports for the year beginning April 1, at levels needed to encourage adequate milk production to meet civilian and defense requirements, were announced recently by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The program, which will follow the current support operations which are scheduled to end March 31, will support prices of manufacturing milk and butterfat at national average prices of about $3.60 per hundredweight for manufacturing milk of 3.95 per cent butterfat (yearly average test) and 67.6 cents a pound for butterfat.

The announced support prices are equal to 87 per cent of the parity equivalent price for manufacturing milk and 90 per cent of parity for butterfat.

Price support for milk and butterfat is mandatory under the Agricultural Act of 1949 at the level, between 75 and 90 per cent of parity, which is necessary to assure an adequate national supply. The program will support the price of all milk sold by farmers. Commenting on the dairy support program, Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan said, "It is extremely important that dairy production be continued at levels adequate to meet our civilian and defense needs. Milk and its products are fundamental in our food supply. A material decrease in production would be serious not only for the present but also for the years immediately ahead. It takes time to build back dairy herds."

"Supports are needed to encourage this continued adequate production. Milk production in recent months has dropped below that of last year, and there are a number of factors which will tend to discourage production further during the coming year. These include less favorable prices for dairy products as compared with meat animals, and a tightening supply of skilled dairy farm labor, machinery, and equipment."

Feeders' Day at Columbia April 13

Feeders Day at Columbia will be Friday, April 13. This event always is worth attending. The morning session deals with problems outside the producers fence which are vital in this complex age. One of the speakers will be C. B. Thorne, vice-president of Wilson and Company. He has served on the Agricultural College Staff and has worked with the U. S. Department of Agriculture and is owner of a Linn county farm.

The afternoon program will deal with recent experiments on feeding and handling of livestock. Watch for further details in these columns or contact the County Extension office.

B.F. Goodrich TRACTOR TIRES

POWER-CURVE

MORE TRACTION, MORE WEAR THAN OTHER LEADING MAKES OF TRACTOR TIRES

Power-Curve cleats are higher for longer wear and deeper bite. Each arrowhead cleat digs into the soil and holds, gives you full traction in reverse as well as forward. Your work goes faster because Power-Curve cleats are tapered at the top to slice into the soil like a knife blade. Power-Curve cleats are braced by their shape so they won't bend and scrub. And more tread rubber means you may get as much as a year's more wear from Power-Curve tractor tires. See this powerful new tire today!

THESE IMPLEMENT TIRES SAVE YOU MONEY

Traction Implement tires for ground-driven implements. Open center tread cleans naturally. Reinforced double bars wear longer, pull better.

Grooved Implement tires for free-rolling wheels on implements and trailers. Wear longer. Reduced rolling resistance cuts fuel bills.

ange shelter with side feeders offers further advantages, many folks are changing their old range shelters or building new ones in order to take advantage of these new conveniences. Some of the advantages are: 1. The bird can feed from both inside and outside the shelter. This would help especially on a rainy morning. 2. It is easier to work inside the shelter since the roosts are now fastened direct to the floor joist. 3. The barrel fountains recommended to go with the range shelter can be fixed with two floats and pans instead of one as formerly used. One of the pans can sit on the inside of the shelter and the other on the outside. In this way the birds can have access to feed and water at any time they want it from both inside and outside of the shelter.

Yes, there is still time to make these changes and enjoy the added conveniences this year. Plans for the side feeder attachment to range shelter are available at the Extension office.

The manganese alloy steel spindle is supported by two 205 double shielded ball bearings. 1 1/2 inch double strength pipe composes the spindle housing. A powerful (2-3/4 H. P.) Briggs and Stratton, Model "8" 4 cycle engine propels the unit. The clutch lever is operated from the handle and slides the engine forward to release the belt tension providing easy starting. The saw is driven by two 64" Section A, V-Belts, the motor pulley being 2 1/4" O. D. and driven pulley 4" O. D.

The unit is made mobile by two 16 gauge steel, disc wheel and 20" x 1.75, semi-pneumatic tires. Each unit is equipped with two interchangeable blades—the weed blade and the saw blade. The 20" saw is Curtis Cordwood type. 1 1/2" hole, and 30" weed blade is 3/16" by 3" crucible alloy spring steel. The blade guard is 12 gauge high-tensile alloy sheet steel. It acts as a haffle to protect the operator when the saw is used in any of the positions.

The saw can be easily adjusted (indexed) to any of four cutting positions simply by pushing back the index lever, turning to desired position of the saw and releasing lever in the correct, notched position. The cutting positions are: (1) horizontal; (2) 30 degree angle; (3) 60 degree angle; and (4) 90 degree or vertical angle. A special safety feature of the unit is the locking mechanism to securely hold the cutting blade. The lower collar is keyed to the spindle. The spindle nut is furnished with left hand threads. This combination prevents the spindle nut from unscrewing and releasing the rapidly revolving blade when the motor is shut off.

Plan Future Production

In planning farming operations to meet defense needs for 1951, farmers of Pettis county should keep in mind that production needs for following years could very well call for further increases, advised the county PMA committee. The emergency may require even greater production next year, they point out, and it may be necessary to provide increasing supplies to the people of friendly nations. At the same time, population is increasing in this country at the rate of about two million a year.

This means that steps should be taken this year to assure continued productivity of the land, which means continued attention to the conservation practices which maintain production.

The committee suggests that one of the most effective means of maintaining and building productivity is through practices which keep up the supply of humus in the soil. Humus, which is the decayed organic matter in the soil, is quickly used up and to keep the soil in good condition, it has to be replenished.

Attention is called to the following Pettis county practices for which Agricultural Conservation Program provides direct assistance: agricultural limestone, mixed fertilizers, super-phosphate, rock-phosphate, seedling legumes, and pasture improvement. Robert W. Rissler, the chairman, points out that the use of lime for conditioning the land and the use of superphosphate to take care of phosphate deficiencies in the soil are often necessary before a good stand of grass and legumes can be established.

To Rebuild A Cafeteria

The Hughesville Parent-Teacher Association met in the school auditorium Tuesday evening, for its monthly meeting.

Mrs. Edwin Smith, president, presided over the meeting and the devotion was given by Mrs. Ray Tagtmeyer.

Mrs. Everett Vannoy, secretary-treasurer, announced that donations had been made to the Founders' Day fund and to the Student Loan fund. She also announced that the senior play, directed by Mrs. W. A. Snoddy, would be held April 17.

R. Morgan, superintendent gave a talk on the fire that destroyed the school cafeteria building, garage and work shops. Mr. Morgan stated plans are being formulated to replace the buildings without asking for a bond issue. The P. T. A. is making plans to help equip the kitchen.

The program consisted of numbers taken from the music contest to be held at Warsaw on Wednesday which included band music and individual numbers directed by Bill Jesse and choral numbers by the Girls Glee Club, Boys Glee Club, quartets and solos directed by Mrs. W. A. Snoddy.

A nominating committee composed of Mrs. Leonard DuBord, Mrs. Dan Smith and Mrs. Charles Callis, presented the names of Mrs. Ray Tagtmeyer for president, Mrs. Raymond Nagle for vice president and Mrs. Everett Vannoy for secretary-treasurer. The list was unanimously elected.

Bids for CONSTRUCTION OF AIRPORT PROJECT NO. 9-23-024-101. To be opened 7:30 o'clock p. m. est. April 16th, 1951.
CITY OF SEDALIA, MISSOURI,
J. M. BAILEY, City Clerk.

A bull pen, breeding chute, and shed such as this one at Chas. Van Dyne—Norman Peters of Sedalia, Route 3, is one of the most needed structures on Dairy Farms in Pettis County. Nearly every week some dairy man has a narrow escape from an enraged bull. Now and then they don't escape, at least without serious injury.

The cow is led into the gate (center) and fastened in the station at the right. The gate can then be closed from the outside without the operator going into the pen at all. Similarly the gate can be used to crowd the animal back into his pen again.

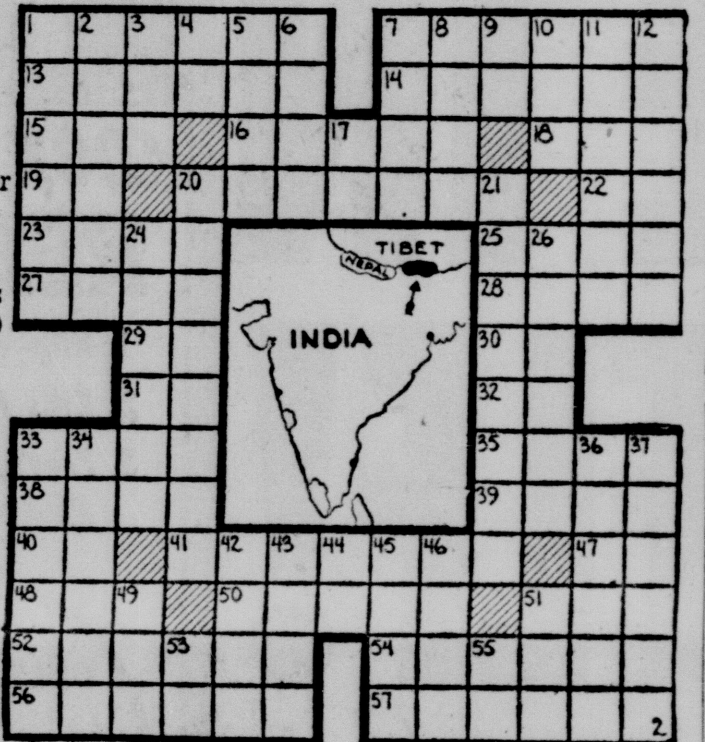

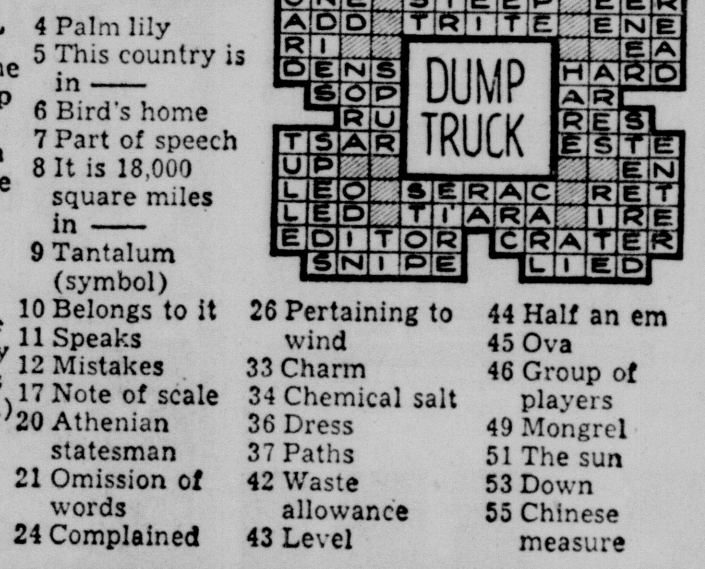

Certainly this is one place where an ounce of prevention is worth pounds of cure. Plans for the pen, breeding chute and shed may be obtained at the County Extension Office.

Keep Your Pigs Alive

"A baby pig is worth between $5.00 and $6.00 the day it is farrowed and more than $10.00 the day it is weaned," says the County Extension agent. These recent figures are based on Iowa figures which are in line with Missouri figures. Generally more than a four of the pigs die without reaching market. The best way to keep most of the baby pigs alive is to raise them on clean ground—give them good shelter and protection from crushing—and good feed, especially protein.

Pasture affords one of the cheapest ways of supplying protein and good protein supplements are another.

American construction crews in Turkey are building air bases that will place the free world's bombers within one hour's flying time of the main oilfields of Russia and her satellites, and within three hours of Moscow itself. Much of the work is top secret. Newsmap above shows location of four major airfield construction projects, biggest of which is Adana, one of the best locations in the Mediterranean from the standpoint of supply and natural defense. Seaborne supplies to Adana can be protected by fighter screens from Crete and Cyprus. Defensively, the Turkish air base will guard the great Middle East oilfields and complete Western air defense for the Eastern Mediterranean and the Suez Canal. In the Canal Zone itself, the Allies are building underground hangars at airfields from which planes might also bomb Russia in event of war.

Kansas Town Rocked by Blast

ELLSWORTH, Kas., April 2—(AP)—A mysterious explosion rocked Ellsworth and the surrounding area Saturday night, damaging several houses and business buildings. No injuries were reported.

Ellsworth County Clerk Frank Kyler said the blast occurred in a park in the east part of the city. He said a hole about three feet deep and three to five feet in diameter was found in the work. A length of wire about 100 feet long was found leading from the hole to a nearby street, Kyler said.

The sheriff's office and the highway patrol were conducting an investigation. The cause or type of explosion had not been determined.

Kyler said 10 or 12 houses in the park area were damaged by the blast. Windows were broken, plaster was knocked loose and electrical fixtures were damaged in the structures.

Some windows were broken in downtown Ellsworth, Kyler said, a half-mile from the park.
